

EDGESINKS
by LANSEN

Seamless integration is a beautiful thing.

EDGE is a revolutionary leap forward in the design of a stainless steel sink. Gone is the traditional rim.

In its place, a unique resin matrix specifically designed for seamless integration in laminate, solid surface and stone. No longer do you need a rim, an overhang or a reveal in your sink installations. Pure seamless integration is now achievable with the new Edge sinks by Lansen.

Crafted from high quality T-304, 18/10 stainless steel, all Edge sinks are constructed from heavy 18 gauge stainless steel with a brushed satin finish for long lasting beauty and durability. Initial designs include a double bowl, two single bowls and a bar sink, with more designs to follow.
